Dear Sir

I am sending you three pamphlets in answer to your letter in the Daily Mail of August 16th.
I think you will see that we have solved the problem of "Self-Education", through "Humanism" within the reach of working-men's children.
We shall be deeply grateful for your Sympathy and sympathy in what seems to be a supreme effort in the cause of education.

 Truly yours,

Charles M. Mason

Handwriting 3 samples which set out 2 Literal Education (1) in Theory (2) in Practice (3) in an Elementary - Council School.

5. We believe that the great problem of Education is at last school, to foster in us with sympathy the ~~desires for social justice~~ <sup>desires for social justice</sup> there people's attempt in the Daily Mail to make the prototype for such valuable help in the Museum of Education.

a sentence in the Daily Mail of August 11th, - "The deadliest peril that can ever threaten us is the peril of our own ignorance" - induces the belief that of what seems to be an epoch-making experiment made in a Yorkshire mining village -

This an experiment which shows that the claim made by Comenius of "all knowledge for all men" may be met~~ached~~ to a surprising extent in our Elementary Schools.

As has been well said, - "The tragedy of modern education has been the prolonged failure of Humanism to secure conditions under which its purpose might be realized for the people at large".

Because we have been able to offer Humanism under such conditions
